The street-car strike at St. Louis culminated in a serious riot. The mob, which numbered about 10,000 persons, began work on Pine street, between Sixth and Tenth, and in an extremely brief space of time succeeded in wrecking twenty cars. All the conductors escaped, but a driver who was knocked down and thrown under the wheels cannot live. A number of mules were so badly injured that they had to be shot. During the progress of the melee Superintendent Scullin of the Union Depot line was knocked down. An attempt to secure his assailant brought on a fierce fight between the mob and police, which ended in the triumph of the latter. Over 100 arrests were made while the original outbreak was at its height, and many more followed in the evening. The mob later on sought other means of wreaking vengeance on the street-car companies, and the entire night proved a turbulent one for the city.

Nowson, whose polygamous wife has been in the penitentiary for months for contempt in refusing to tell who was the father of her child, was today convicted of both polygamy and unlawful cohabitation, involving five years and six months in the penitentiary and $300 fine; if the Judge imposes the maximum sentence, he is invariably does when the prisoner shows no disposition to repent. Sentence will be pronounced next week. F. H. Hanson, six months and $300. While the trials have lasted, the grand jury is steadily finding indictments. DEAR SIR:—It is my intention to go to Albany next month, for the purpose of voting the Democratic ticket, which should be, and I believe will be, elected. I have no doubt that President Cleveland will do likewise. While Governor of the State he never failed to go to Buffalo to exercise this right, and I am sure he feels it to be his duty to do so now. Certainly he is anxious for the success of the ticket headed by Gov. Hill as he has been for the success of that ticket, which his own name led to victory three years ago. Sincerely yours, DANIEL MANNING.

The first joint debate between Gov. Hoar and Judge Foster, rival candidates for Governor of Ohio, occurred at Toledo on the evening of the 4th inst., and drew an immense crowd. A Toledo dispatch says: "In the course of Hoar's remarks he said that Abraham Lincoln died a Democrat. What Hoar meant to say was that if he had lived three months longer he would have been a Democrat. When Foster replied he censured Hoar for misrepresentation, and said that Lincoln, instead of dying a Democrat, died by the hand of a Democrat. Much excitement prevailed during this part of the debate, but it soon quieted down."

With the exception of a few Southern cities, where the harvest of cotton has been heavier and where trade has been stimulated by the sale of a large quantity of cotton, there is a general feeling of depression. A significant feature in the New York and Chicago money markets, in Chicago trade circles talk is less confident, although opinion declines to the belief that the improvement will follow the fall."

TRICKS ON THE TRACKS!

Dangers from Which Engineers Save the Public and the Railroad.

One who is accustomed to railway traveling can scarcely realize how much he is dependent for safety upon the engineer. Added to the responsibility of their station, engineers are also in constant danger of accidents caused by the tricks of jealous rivals. The following is a list of some of the tricks which have been played upon the public by the tricks of jealous rivals.

A Nickel Plate engineer, after his very first trip, laid off because he was "too good" for the position. He was reinstated, however, after he proved that some rival had played his trick with energy. Another new engineer was suspended for turning out the lines of his boiler. Through a trick of the lines of his position he died, and then a conspiracy was formed to ruin him. He had put oil in the tank so that it foamed and showed water at the top gauge, when in reality there was scarcely a quart in the boiler.

These tricks are dangerous to the public and the railroad. The following is a list of some of the tricks which have been played upon the public by the tricks of jealous rivals.
